Rules to Follow

- All participants must follow the route markings.
- Participants must help people in danger or injury and immediately report any accident to the race committee or an official on the course.
- Small sections of some routes pass over forestry roads and public roads. Special caution is required here, and runners must show consideration for other road users (vehicles, cyclists, hikers, etc.).
- Participants must clear the path and allow others to pass.
- Participants must protect the environment – no waste may be left on the course.
- Any form of physical assistance (pushing, pulling, carrying, ...) for a participant is prohibited.

Rescue Costs

All rescue costs are to be borne by the participant; insurance is therefore strongly recommended. This can be added during registration. Please check your own insurance conditions in advance.

Aid Stations and Checkpoints

Aid and checkpoint stations are located along the course. All stations are equipped with drinks and snacks. Additionally, huts and lodges on the route offer food; it is recommended to carry cash. For sustainability reasons, single-use cups are not provided at aid stations. Cups can be purchased at registration or when picking up bibs.

Safety Information

Participants must be at least 18 years old. In the event of race withdrawal, each participant is responsible for their own transport and is required to inform the race management via SMS at the number provided. In emergencies, mountain rescue should be contacted via the emergency number 140 or an emergency app. Instructions from helpers, paramedics, and medical personnel must be followed; runners may be removed from the race if there are health concerns.
